Think Abouts: Personalizing Learning Statements to Ponder

- 1. Personalizing learning is about putting kids first. Period.
- 2. Personalizing learning is tailoring student instruction with specified, individually, targeted feedback and coaching that is immediate, specific, relevant and actionable.
- 3. Personalizing learning is that top-secret improvement code for each student's personal improvement.
- 4. Personalizing learning is a 2nd generation refinement to differentiated instruction for deeper understanding and more customized skill development in student-centered classrooms.
- 5. Personalizing still means differences in pacing and pathways to learning, but most of all, it means students become active participants in their learning.
- 6. Personalizing learning is helping students get the results that matter for their school success and wellbeing by guiding their own abilities and potential.
- 7. Personalizing learning, means learning how to think and how to think about thinking, how to learn about learning...with insight and awareness, thus gaining control over the journey.
- 8. Personalizing learning is not about "completing tasks" but rather, it's about being challenged to do a personal best in "creating solutions" to complex, multi-modal problems involving real-life.
- 9. Personalizing learning embraces metacognitive reflection for self-direction, self-monitoring and self-evaluating. In essence, personalization is developing an informed voice and choice for student ownership.
- 10. Personalizing learning in a highly practical sense, is knowing what they know and what they don't know.
